"I grew up as a Hoosier, and the University is part of my family," Indiana coach Tom Crean said in a statement. "To have my players in this class recognizes how special the University of Indiana and its great men's basketball program is to so many people." Coach K. 8 is the word. According to an ESPN story, Indiana University is the eighth most admired athletic institution in the U.S., with 117 of 131 major college athletic directors saying they would pick the Hoosiers over Alabama, Texas and USC if a playoff began today. Yeah, I know. I'll bet they don't like us, but I didn't expect it to be the second most admired institution. Duke (1), Auburn (3), Kansas (5) and Kentucky (6) all had a higher percentage of respondents who said they would pick them than IU, giving Indiana the odd distinction of being third most admired by its own athletic directors. As for the rest, they are ranked in order of most admired. 1. University of Virginia 2. Yale 3. Virginia Tech 4. Georgia Tech 5. University of Kansas 6. Notre Dame 7. University of North Carolina 8.
