Bonobob Do the new landmarks support also more than 1 "massive building"? benos The 30 St. Mary Axe has 24 floors. bonobob I think I'm missing a huge important information here. How can I get a "massive building" to be the "Go to place in the City"? I only see "Lofty Landmarks" and the "more than 1 massive building" part... Seems like most of the popular buildings are blocked on an individual basis, to ensure that most of the players will go to the building of their preference. Would be a bit discouraging to see the popularity of a building "go to zero" because one of the players doesn't want to go there. I think it would be better to make the available buildings more than one, but it could get difficult to manage... Ornaru It's not possible to modify the few buildings we have seen in the DLC, as they are set to individual players. If you need more than one of a certain type of building, go into multiplayer and select a player that is using that building, and work out how to get it for yourself. schranti I have the same problem in my office with a big tower with a
