Music fans nationwide and right here in Daytona Beach can enjoy a dazzling lineup of music makers over the coming weekend during the ninth annual Daytona Beach Music Festival from Friday, Aug. 19 through Sunday, Aug. 21, at the city's 28th Street Beach Park. The lineup, which includes some of the world's finest musical talent, is being sponsored by the City of Daytona Beach through the support of various organizations and businesses. The 10-day music festival has grown each year since the inaugural festival in 2009. The event attracts some of the top national and local performers, artists, producers and managers from across the United States. For the first time in its history, The W/W Waves -- the United Kingdom-based, annual festival now held in Rock Island, Illinois -- will be performing at the event. The W/W Waves, which features the top British rock artists, is the only international festival in the world to feature two separate stages, one for electronic music and the other for rock. In addition, the festival will feature the City
