If you are a Windows user, you can use Google Chrome or Mozilla Firefox browser with Shruti (Since Windows Explorer is really bad in displaying Unicode script). If you are using Chrome, the font you need is "Lohit Gujarati". Type the same language in the URL bar, and the text will be automatically converted to Gujarati. When using Firefox, use the language that you have downloaded. The language must be present in the font. You may need to install the font individually. You can download Lohit Gujarati free (Mac) on my downloads page: Download Gujarati and Hindi Unicode Fonts. To conclude, I would like to say a big thank you to all the readers and reviewers. Without your continuous support, this could not have been possible. Thank you for using sulekha.com, and let me wish you all the best for your love, relationships, and life. See you around! You will not receive any coupon. Deletes features and downloads for Free or trial version of Office 2010 templates for Word and PowerPoint, including OneNote, Outlook Express, and Publisher.
