What's New In?

IPI.MANAGER PRO, developed by Agile Networks, brings a number of unique features to your business. It lets you assign tasks among your employees, manage your daily activities, and define the cost to your company by the number of outstanding tasks. IPI.MANAGER PRO provides multiple channels for communication between employees and managers. It includes standard e-mail functionality, and it can be used as a company's answering machine. As it does not employ any Windows-based technology, IPI.MANAGER PRO is compatible with any operating system. It provides an excellent user experience and enables you to get maximum benefit from your web site. IPI.MANAGER PRO Features: IPI.MANAGER PRO provides a number of unique features: · New message waiting indicator displayed on web site; · Possibility to automatically move the system to offline mode (no Internet connection); · Automatic backup to your files (a copy of the system will be saved on your hard drive every few hours); · Ability to assign a task to the assigned manager or to specific employees. This program is tightly integrated with MSN. It can fetch calendar and e-mail information from your MSN account and display them on your web site. IPI.MANAGER PRO provides many functionalities for employees, who can view their personal list of tasks, see a summary of their work, and save their statistics. Employees can also check their manager's tasks and reply to them via e-mail. The system sends an e-mail message to the author and to your company managers at the moment of a task completion, including statistics, an external link, and a link to the URL where the task is stored. IPI.MANAGER PRO enables you to manage your tasks by dividing them into sub-tasks, and it allows the execution of sub-tasks only when the sub-task's parent task is completed. The manager can assign a task to his subordinate; employees can send questions to their managers; tasks may be arranged in chains, with a new task starting only after the previous one has been completed; you can also set a deadline for executing a task and its importance for your company, and use many other valuable features. IPI.MANAGER PRO can be used as a unified center incorporating all customer queries, manager tasks, current projects, and personnel instructions. Your employees will then work with a single information center replacing the variety of programs they may now be using in your office. IPI.MANAGER PRO is useful for any business that involves the tracking of incoming and outgoing e-mail and/or tasks. IPI.MANAGER PRO Benefits: Benefits of IPI.MANAGER PRO: · You will be able to process
