In response to the guidelines of continued use of class 3 of Code of Federal Regulations, most of which are now updated to July 1, 2018, the MGGGA has announced that the requirement for PCA sources to be sold after July 1, 2018 will be extended. MGGGA is changing the requirements of what products qualify as organic. This is a major change that impacts current participants in the MGGGA Program and all future organic participants. The new organic requirements are more restrictive than the requirements for conventional/GMO-based products. Our new organic rules limit growth and use of soil additives to plant cover crops which will be controlled to enforce the use of green manures. The new organic rules more closely align with the 2002 organic regulations (e.g., rootstocks, soil amendments, cultivation, propagation and harvesting). The new organic rules are simple to apply and will now be part of the regulatory process and available to all small and medium organic producers and processors. There are no adjustments to conventional/GMO-based production and processing. Any other amendments used in producing organic products must meet the non-GMO organic component of the rules. Non-GMO organic product means the product does not contain genetically-engineered organisms (GMOs). To stay up
